1. Purpose

The purpose of this policy is to establish the guidelines and conditions under which employees may work from home (telecommute). The Company supports flexible working arrangements that maintain productivity, collaboration, and work-life balance while ensuring business continuity and data security.

2. Scope

This policy applies to all employees who are approved for remote work, whether on a regular, hybrid, or temporary basis. Work from home arrangements are a privilege and not an entitlement, and are subject to the approval of the employee's manager and Human Resources.

3. Eligibility

Employees may be eligible to work from home if they meet all of the following criteria:

- The role and job responsibilities can be performed effectively from a remote location.
- The employee has completed the probationary period, unless otherwise approved by management.
- The employee has a suitable, quiet, and safe home workspace with reliable internet connectivity.
- The employee has demonstrated satisfactory performance and attendance.

4. Approval Process

Employees must submit a formal request to their direct manager at least five (5) working days in advance. The request must state the proposed schedule (days and hours) and the expected duration. Approval is granted in writing by the manager and Human Resources. The Company reserves the right to approve, modify, or deny any request based on business needs.

5. Working Hours and Availability

- Employees must maintain their contracted working hours and be available during core business hours.
- Employees must be reachable via phone, email, and approved messaging platforms during working hours.
- Any leave, breaks, or changes to the schedule must be recorded in the same manner as office-based work.
- Overtime requires prior written approval from the manager.

6. Equipment and Technology

The Company will provide the necessary equipment (e.g., laptop, headset) where required. Employees are responsible for the proper care and security of Company equipment and must report any loss, theft, or damage immediately. The Company is not responsible for personal internet or utility costs unless otherwise agreed in writing.

7. Data Security and Confidentiality

- Employees must use Company-approved devices, VPN, and secure connections when accessing Company systems.
- Confidential information must not be discussed in public spaces or shared over unsecured networks.
- Workstations must be locked when unattended, and screens must not be visible to third parties.
- All Company data must be stored on Company-approved systems; personal devices must not be used for Company data.
- Any security incident or suspected breach must be reported to IT immediately.

8. Health, Safety, and Ergonomics

Employees must ensure their home workspace is safe and ergonomically suitable. The Company will provide guidance on workstation setup. Employees must take regular breaks and inform their manager of any work-related injury or health concern arising from the home working environment.

9. Performance and Supervision

Remote employees are expected to deliver the same quality and volume of work as office-based employees. Managers will conduct regular check-ins and performance reviews. Failure to meet performance expectations may result in the withdrawal of the work from home arrangement.

10. Termination or Modification of Arrangement

The Company may modify or terminate a work from home arrangement at any time, with reasonable notice, based on business requirements, performance issues, or policy violations. Employees may also request to return to full-time office work at any time.

11. Policy Compliance

Violation of this policy may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment. Questions regarding this policy should be directed to the Human Resources Department.
